DETAILED ACTION

1. The indicated allowability of claims 11, 13, 14 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to Christensen. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 11, 13, 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Christensen (6,808,298).

4. Christensen discloses a headlight housing including a lens (10), a mounting assembly for mounting said headlight housing to a motorcycle frame (col. 2 lines 17-25), and adjustment means for adjusting the headlight housing with respect to the motorcycle frame after assembly thereto (5, 11), and including for pivotally moving said mounting assembly (col. 2 lines 48-52) and including means for lengthening and shortening said mounting assembly (5,11).

Allowable Subject Matter

5. Claims 1-10 are allowed.
6. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art cited of record does not disclose individually or in combination the following combination of elements:

- As recited in claim 1, the elements comprising: a headlight housing having a lens on a forward side thereof, and an integral boss incorporating a socket; a mating ball provided at one end of a ball shaft, the other end of said ball shaft adapted to be rigidly affixed to a motorcycle frame, wherein said ball and said socket are matingly engaged to provide a ball and socket joint structure enabling rotational and translational movement of said ball and said socket relative to one another; and a positioning arm having one end attached to said headlight housing via a retaining boss integrally provided on said housing, and an opposite end adapted to be rotatably attached to the motorcycle frame, said positioning arm being adjustable lengthwise and movable both rotationally and translationally relative to said retaining boss.
- With regards to claim 5 the elements comprising: a headlight housing; and a three point mounting assembly integrated to a rear side of said headlight housing, including a ball provided at a free end of said mounting shah, said ball matingly received in a mating socket formed in a portion of said headlight, wherein said adjustment mechanism enables movable adjustment of said headlight relative to said mounting shaft; and a pair of extendable and rotatable positioning arms each attached to said headlight at one end and adapted to be rotatably attached to the frame at another end.

- With regards to claim 6, although Jones (5,426,571) teaches a ball and socket connected to the headlight housing, sufficient motivation could not be found to combine the teaching of Jones's ball and socket connection means with Christensen's extendable headlight because structurally the ball and socket means as taught by Jones would be incompatible with the lengthening and retractable device holding the headlamp of Christensen since the ball and socket connection means of Jones connects directly to the frame of the motorcycle.
